Chair Gonzales Officially Launches Her Newly Renovated Website

SAN BERNARDINO – Always seeking to increase residents' access to information, San Bernardino County Supervisor Josie Gonzales, this week, officially launched her newly renovated county website.

"My staff, with support from our County Information Services Department, has designed a more streamlined, user-friendly, professional site that will allow residents to readily access information pertaining to county programs and services," said Supervisor Gonzales, who also chairs the Board of Supervisors.

Features on the website homepage include: revolving photos and brief story captions that highlight recent newsworthy items; a scroll of upcoming events and activities; and a direct link to Supervisor Gonzales' bi-monthly newsletter, "Josie's Press."

Under "Helpful Links" visitors can also link straight to the County website and to current county job announcements, as well as 2-1-1 that provides round-the-clock access to information and referrals for health and social services.

"I invite residents to visit the website," said Gonzales. "Before leaving it, please click on the Contact tab and let me know what you think about the new design. I welcome your comments on how we can make the site an even greater informational tool for you."
